

[P. Morrison

XXX — The Kakapo (Strigops habroptilus) has become very scarce. Ornithologists have read with interest and relief that four have been captured in the Tutoko valley and that an attempt will be made to breed this curious 'owl-parrot' in captivity.

[P. Morrison

XXXI—In these two photographs are shown the first (wire in background) and third Kakapos captured alive, after some years' searching, in January, 1961.