THE BOOK OF THE HUIA

W. J. PHILLIPPS

Formerly Registrar and Ethnologist
Dominion Museum

"If the huia is indeed extinct," writes Dr. R. A. Falla in his Foreword, "this book will be something of a memorial tribute. If not, the book will provide stimulating background reading for those New Zealanders who, remembering that in 1948 Dr. G. B. Orbell rediscovered an 'extinct' bird in Southland, can see no conclusive reason why the North Island should not provide another rediscovery of equal interest."

W. J. Phillipps, the author of this book, gives us a complete, straightforward picture of the bird itself with full life history details. However he is quite convinced that huias will be rediscovered.
